《Selection Process》

The 'Kamenori Award Selection Committee', which includes external experts, will select the award recipients.

- 1st Round : Application review and screening
- 2nd Round (Final) : Selection based on presentations given on 8th November, 2021 (Monday) in Tokyo

* Only applicants who qualify for the 2nd round will be invited to give presentations. Details and requirements of the presentations will be notified together with the results of the 1st round.

《Selection Criteria》

The Committee will comprehensively evaluate the following points:

- Content of activities, degree of contribution, and coordination and/or cooperation with other organizations
- Potential for future activities.
- Uniqueness and innovativeness of activities

- The “Kamenori Grand Award - Grassroots Division”, focuses and evaluates grass-root activities where there is direct interaction between groups or individuals and the people who they are supporting.
- The “Kamenori Grand Award - Human Resources Development Division”, focuses and evaluates activities that nurture people who can contribute to building our future society.
- The “Kamenori Pioneer Award”, focuses and evaluates activities that are unique and innovative.
*The number of years since the organization has been founded or how long it has been active will not be questioned. It can also be a new program that is different from an existing one.

Activities with the following three characteristics will be put under special consideration, and will receive extra points during selection:

- Activities that focus on Asian countries, areas and people.
- Cultural exchange and/or human resource development programmes that focus on the younger generation.
- Activities implemented to tackle issues that arose due to the coronavirus pandemic
